

Ability Management: Solutions for Protecting & Sustaining Your Workforce

Putting Ability in Disability Management

Given the current labour market in Alberta, your employees are one of your most important assets. Having an effective Ability Management program is strategic for protecting and sustaining your workforce. The foundation of a strong Ability Management program starts by understanding the physical demands of a job and then focusing on the abilities of employees. This is critical for return to work planning and post-offer employment testing (POET) programs. Learn how these Ability Management programs can directly impact employee retention and recovery, as well as your WCB costs. Ability Management helps to ensure that your most important asset, a productive workforce, is sustained and protected.

Breakfast Seminar

We would like to invite you to an educational breakfast seminar on Monday, October 2, 2006 from 8:00am to 9:30am at The Fairmont Palliser in the Penthouse Suite. A full, complementary breakfast will be served while you have a chance to listen to revolutionary ideas on Ability Management. Individuals who manage with human resources, occupational and non-occupational claims, benefits, and company health and safety will benefit from attending this seminar.

Event Speakers

Jolene Kober-EARA Technologies

Why are Physical Demand Assessments (PDA) critical to your companies' foundation for "Ability Management"? Jolene will discuss how a Video PDA® database is the core of successful return to work and post offer employment testing (POET) programs.

Steve McGregor-Impact Health

Steve will discuss the application of information obtained from PDAs in effective strategies proven to reduce costs and improve employee recovery and retention within organizations.
